BUSINESS CONTINUITY AND DISASTER RECOVERY PLAN

Seeds Investor LLC

June 10th, 2025

1. Introduction

Seeds Investor LLC (the “Firm”) is an investment adviser registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”). This Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery Plan (the “Plan”) provides a framework for responding to a significant business disruption by safeguarding employees’ lives and the Firm’s property, quickly recovering and resuming operations, protecting all our books and records, and allowing our clients to transact business. In the event that we determine we are unable to continue our business we will assure clients prompt access to their funds and securities.

a. Significant Business Disruptions

Significant business disruptions affect our Firm’s ability to communicate and do business. Significant business disruptions may be internal disruptions that affect only our Firm, or external events that affect a number of individuals or businesses.

b. Approval and Execution Authority

The Firm’s Chief Compliance Officer (the 'CCO') is authorized to execute this plan. The CCO is responsible for conducting the required annual review and providing training to employees. Additionally, the CCO has the authority to activate and oversee the execution of the Firm's plan in the event of a significant business disruption.

c. Plan Location and Access

Each employee will receive a copy of this Plan and any amendments. We will maintain copies of this Plan and documentation of the annual reviews, and the changes that have been made to it for inspection. An electronic copy of our Plan is located on the Firm’s network.

d. Emergency Contact Persons

The following individuals are the emergency contacts for our Firm.

Name	Telephone Numbers	Email Addresses
Zach Conway	908-892-2768	zach@useseeds.com
Dianne Morin	561-722-4429	dmorin@useseeds.com

2. Business Description

Seeds primarily offers investment management and related services to other financial institutions through subadvisory engagements (each referred to as a “Client”) pursuant to which such Clients delegate Seeds authority to manage assets of their clients (Seeds’ “End-Clients”). Advisory personnel of the Client will serve as the primary Advisor by directing Seeds management of

End-Client assets and conducting initial and ongoing determinations of the suitability of investment strategies selected for their respective End-Clients.

3. Business Succession

The Firm is a limited liability company, and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Seeds Investor Holdings, Inc. In the event of the incapacitation or death of any of the members of the parent company, the disposition of the member's ownership interest of the LLC will be distributed according to a separate Operating Agreement.

In the event of the termination, incapacitation, or death of any of its key personnel, the Firm has adequate staffing to absorb the duties and responsibilities of any key person on a temporary basis. The Firm will endeavor to reassign duties and responsibilities as appropriate, and will use its best efforts to promptly recruit and retain additional staffing to replace key personnel as it deems appropriate based on the circumstances of the Firm.

4. Office Locations

a. Main Office

The Firm's main office is located at 387 Park Avenue South, 5th Floor, New York, NY 10016. Its primary telephone number is (212) 287-7370

b. Alternative Physical Location of Employees

All employees are currently working remotely from their residences. In the event of a significant business disruption, employees will generally be instructed to continue to work remotely from their residence or an alternative suitable and safe location, and to await further instructions. If the disruption appears to be long-term in nature, the Firm may secure an alternative office location.

5. Mission Critical Systems

Our Organization's "mission critical systems" are those that ensure prompt and accurate delivery of services to our clients. Vendors providing these services are recorded in a log maintained by the Compliance Department.

6. Alternate Communications

a. Employees

We now communicate with our employees using email and in-person or video conference meetings. In the event of a significant business disruption, we will assess which means of communication are still available to us, and use the means closest in speed and form (written or oral) to the means that we have used in the past to communicate with the other party.

b. Clients

Communications with clients typically occur through our investment management platform (the 'Platform'), or email. During a significant business disruption, clients will continue to receive communications through the Platform or other electronic methods that may be available.

c. Regulators

We are regulated by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission. We communicate with our regulators using telephone, email, and U.S. mail. In the event of a significant business disruption, we will assess which means of communication are still available to us, and use the means closest in speed and form (written or oral) to the means that we have used in the past to communicate with the other party.

We now file reports with our regulators electronically using the IARD/CRD system. In the event of a significant business disruption, we will determine which means of filing are still available to us, and use the means closest in speed and form (written or oral) to our previous filing method. In the event that we cannot contact our regulators, we will continue to file required reports using the communication means available to us.

7. Critical Business Constituents

The Compliance Department maintains a list of business constituents we rely on to perform our mission critical activities. This list includes the name of each business constituent, a description of the service it provides, and contact information. We will quickly establish alternative arrangements if a business constituent can no longer provide the needed goods or services when we need them because of a significant business disruption to them or our Firm.

8. Data Back-Up and Recovery

Data back-up and recovery is addressed in separate information security policies and procedures. In the event of an internal or external significant business disruption that causes the loss of our records, we will recover them using the procedures discussed in the information security policies and procedures.

9. Updates and Annual Review

Our Firm will update this Plan whenever we have a material change to our operations, structure, business or location, or to those of our custodians. In addition, our Firm will review this Plan on an annual basis, to modify it for any changes in our operations, structure, business or location or those of our custodians.

10.Adoption

This Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery Plan has been adopted and is effective as of 06/10/2025
